

Arab Vision project update March/April 2018

- God can change me – He can change others
- Easter program – Peace in a troubled world
- Easter series online – The Living One

Dear friends,

In these days around Easter we are reminded again of God's infinite mercy and the indescribable power of His life, demonstrated in the resurrection of our Lord Jesus. Your God is too small, is the title of a book written by J.B. Philips. Unfortunately, that is often so true in our lives. May we be reminded once again of God's greatness as we celebrate Easter!

I was encouraged by the testimony of Gamal, one of the few Christians living in the Arabian Peninsula, an area consisting mainly of Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Oman. The number of Christians from a Muslim background is small, but growing. People often hear the gospel for the first time through the media. Since there are very few indigenous churches, radio, TV and the internet play a vital role in spreading the gospel. This is what Gamal says:

"The thing that gives me strength and gives me hope that God can change the people who are around me, is the transformation in my own life. I have faith and I pray that the One who changed me and keeps changing me and does miracles in my life can use me as a tool to build a Christ-centered society—or that God will do it in His own ways, even if it doesn't involve me. The same way He shaped me, He can shape those around me and this will be the reason for transformation in our society."

Easter – Seeking peace in a troubled world

At the time of writing we are producing a TV series for Easter 2018. We do this annually, but this year our theme will be 'Seeking peace in a troubled world'. The resurrection is the cornerstone of Christianity. Its existence derives from Christ's birth, and its life from his life; its continuity from his resurrection. If Christ had not risen, Christianity would not have existed; therefore the resurrection is a new birth and a new hope. It's the only guarantee that we will not perish – we are given eternal life. Please give your contribution for this special Easter series. We still need about US$ 3,000.

One of our previous Easter series The Living One among the dead is now available – with Dutch subtitles - on our Arab Vision YouTube channel in the playlist The Living One. This series consists of 33 episodes of about 10 minutes each; a short message about the meaning of Easter and Pentecost plus Arabic hymns and songs. Make sure you pass on the info to your Arabic speaking friend, neighbor or colleague!

Reminder:

In our February project update we wrote about the program Signs of hope in a divided world. This is a quick reminder that the documentary is available on USB with English or Dutch subtitles. If you're interested in receiving it, please send a message to contact@arabvision.org and we'll be happy to send it to you in exchange of a small contribution towards the costs.

On behalf of the Arab Vision team I would like to wish you a very good Easter.

Living in hope,

Gabino Boutros
